

MCGILL FAMILY MEDICINE RESEARCH SEMINARS

“USING EVIDENCE IN GUIDELINES IMPLEMENTATION”

Dr. Jessie McGowan

Dr. Jessie McGowan has a PhD in Information Studies and extensive experience working in hospitals, universities, and public health. She holds an adjunct faculty appointment at the University of Ottawa in the Department of Medicine, and is Associate Editor of the Journal of Clinical Epidemiology (impact factor 5.3). She has been involved with the Cochrane Collaboration since 1995, and is a co-convenor of their Information Retrieval Methods Group. Since 2010, she has worked extensively with the Canadian Society for International Health in Kazakhstan to introduce evidence-based medicine and clinical practice guidelines adaptation and implementation.

Thursday April 2, 2015
From 12:00-1:30 p.m.
Department of Family Medicine
5858 ch. de la Côte-des-Neiges, 3rd floor, suite 300

BRING YOUR LUNCH! There will be light refreshments.
There is no parking on site and parking is limited in the area. Taxis and public transport are advised.

Cannot make the seminar physically, but would like to attend? Please register for the webinar here.
(Note: Students from FMED 504 are expected to attend)

McGill

Department of
Family Medicine | Département de
médecine de famille